

Problem Statement:

College students at the University of South Carolina are unsure about whether or not they want to go to the dining hall and use their meal swipes because they are unaware of what is on the menu. There is not currently an app that shows what is being served on the menu in the dining hall.

Developing an app that shows the daily menu of what is being served in the dining hall would make students' lives a lot easier.